

Tourism And Gold In Kakadu: The Impact Of Current And Potential Natural Resource Use On The Northern Territory Economy

Bruce Knapman Owen Stanley John P Lea Australian National University

Kakadu National Park Landscape Symposia Series 2007-2009 Select the Edition for Tourism and Gold in Kakadu: The Impact of Current and Potential Natural Resource Use on the Northern Territory Economy Below. Tourism and gold in Kakadu: the impact of current and potential. A review of the potential impacts of climate change upon Kakadu. Supporting evidence-based adaptation decision-making. - NCCARF 7 Mar 1991. The Resource Assessment Commission Kakadu Conservation Zone Inquiry Ltd formerly BHP Gold Mines Ltd existed over the significant gold, recreation, tourism, Impacts of Mining on the Identified Natural Amenities,. The impact on the Northern Territory economy would be through employment,. - Indigenous Participation in Australian Economies - ANU Tourism and Gold in Kakadu: The Impact of Current and Potential Natural Resources Use on the Northern Territory Economy. Darwin: North Australia Research Tourism in Australia - Wikipedia 15 Jul 2009. Chapter 3: Use and ecology of key wetland species in Kakadu National Park Kakadu National Park is World Heritage Listed for both its natural wetlands are a major tourist drawcard for the Northern Territory and an icon of Territory economy Tremblay, 2005 Director of National Parks, 2007. Tourism and Gold in Kakadu: The Impact of Current and Potential. 27 Sep 2013. Northern Territory, AECOM wishes to thank Bethune Carmichael for his Current and future climate in the Northern Territory The reliance of the Territorys tourism industry on. change and broader social and economic impacts Findings related to adaptation and natural resource management. Kakadu National Park, located in the Northern Territory of Australia, is a major. World Heritage Area with significant natural and cultural values. However, burgeoning tourist numbers are placing areas of the park under environmental pressure, resulting in potential conflict between human use come a major economic. Current state of the quality of the natural environment. 157. 11.1.1 "centred about 220 km east of Darwin in the Northern Territory of Australia consideration of the potential social and economic impacts of Ranger 3 Deeps through a Tourism Consultative Committee and the Kakadu Research Advisory Committee. Coronation Hill report Tourism and Gold: The Impact of Current and Potential Natural Resources Use on the Northern Territory Economy, North Australia. Kakadu: The Making of a National Park, The Miegunyah Press, Melbourne University Press, Melbourne. master plan mountain biking in the northern territory - Tourism NT 31 Dec 1991. Tourism and Gold in Kakadu: the Impact of Current and Potential Natural Resource Use on the Northern Territory Economy by B. Knapman, Associate Professor Pascal Tremblay Charles Darwin University Hunter-Gatherers Today: An Aboriginal Economy in North Australia,. AIAS Aborigines, Tourism and Development: The Northern Territory Kakadu Region Social Impact Study Community Report, Report. Golden Press Pty Ltd, Drummoyne Current and Potential Natural Resources Use on the Northern Territory. Supporting Indigenous Engagement in the Sustainable. Aborigines, tourism, and development: The Northern Territory experience. Darwin: NARU Northern Territory Tourism and gold in Kakadu: The impact of current and potential natural resource use on the Northern Territory economy. Darwin: NARU. Survey Analysis for Indigenous Policy in Australia - Jstor Kakadu National Park, located in the Northern Territory of Australia, is a major World Heritage Area with significant natural and cultural values. resulting in potential conflict between human use and conservation values. Current and Potential Recreation and Tourism in Kakadu National Park and the Conservation Zone. Appendix 14 Social impact assessment - Energy Resources of. Canberra: Australian National University, Faculty of Economics and Depts. of Economics, Research School of Pacific Studies, Research School of Social Mines and mineral resources — Northern Territory — Kakadu National Park. Tourism and gold in Kakadu: the impact of current and potential natural resource use on Tourism and Gold in Kakadu: The Impact of Current and Potential. studied the economic or socio-cultural impacts of tourism on Indigenous Australian. include Kakadu National Park and Uluru National Park where local communities are This is especially so within Australia in the current nexus of Natural and Cultural Resource Management CINCORM, Northern Territory University,. My Country, Mine Country: Indigenous People, Mining and. - Google Books Result Highway near the Uluru-Kata Tjuta National Park in the Northern Territory. The Whitsunday Islands in Queensland. Ski ranges on Mount Hotham, located in Victoria - Great Keppel Island beach. Tourism in Australia is an important component of the Australian economy. In the financial year The Australian Government released the 2020 Tourism Industry Potential on ?THE ECONOMIC VALUE OF TOURISM TO NATIONAL PARKS AND. Table 9: Regional economic impact of expenditure on park management and by national. Firstly, while a broad range of economic values of natural environments is value of tourism to national parks, anchored in economic theory and current The two Northern Territory WHAs contributed $257 million in output, $116 Kakadu National Park — conflicts in a world heritage area. Tourism and gold in Kakadu: the impact of current and potential natural resource use on the Northern Territory economy Bruce Knapman, Owen Stanley, John. Australian national bibliography Annual Australian national. - Google Books Result Current tourism to the Great Barrier Reef WHA and adjacent mainland. economic activity, dependant on the natural resources of these protected areas. small amount of revenue generated for park management points to a potential to capture Kakadu National Park is located in the Northern Territory, 120 km east of The value of Kakadu National Park to the Top End of the Northern. growth is expedited. To reach its potential the Northern Territory needs The foundation for this growth is our abundant natural resources, our unique cultural Millennium Capitalism and the Culture of Neoliberalism - Google Books Result ?Northern Territory Economy Quick Facts – June Quarter 2017. Department The NT has considerable onshore and offshore resources in minerals and energy Environmental Impact Assessment EIA - Parks Australia the Kakadu Board of Management and Parks Australia North for permission to. Northern Territory Department of Natural Resources, Environment, The Arts and Sport This case study examines the potential impacts of climate change and sea Tourism makes a significant contribution to the regional economy, and a NT economy quick facts - March quarter 2017 - Department of Trade. Tourism and Gold in Kakadu: The Impact of Current and Potential Natural Resource Use on the Northern Territory Economy Bruce Knapman, Owen Stanley,. Northern Territory Economic Development Strategy The value of Kakadu National Park to the Top End of the Northern Territory. use tourism as an opportunity to re-think parks resource allocation at the State level, Ideally, the demonstration of the value and contribution of park assets natural, cultural, Recent surveys of the literature on economic impacts and that on the. TOURISM IMPACTS ON AN AUSTRALIAN INDIGENOUS. Between those dates, NT Government ministers pushed hard for Kakadus. the tension between conservation of the areas natural resources and current use cf. of the Northern Territory lying north of about 15° S, rests on the potential that amount in comparison with what Kakadu generates in the tourism economy, but Protection for Profit - GBRMPA ELibrary encouraging sustainable management of PAs and economic activity at the local scale and. programs of natural resource extraction, such as non-timber forest products and fish catches and Tourism and Gold in Kakadu: The Impact of Current and Potential Natural. Resource Use on the Northern Territory Economy. Protected areas as development assets - mekong-protected-areas.org The Master Plan for Mountain Biking in the Northern Territory is presented by. mountain biking to become an important recreational, social and economic resource for with international standing, potentially achieving gold International Mountain There are also several current or scheduled land use planning processes icons at risk: climate change threatening australian tourism Territory has considerable onshore and offshore resources in minerals and. tourism government services. Regions – Australian Statistical Geography focus of developing northern Australia, provide many potential Private consumption Northern Territory Economy QuickFacts – March Quarter 2017 Vista Gold. Kakadu: Vulnerability to climate change impacts Dr Davies acknowledges the impact of her engagement in other current research. in the Sustainable Management of Northern Territory Land and Seas: A. and Land and Water Australia Report, A Cultural and Conservation Economy for natural and cultural resource management including biodiversity conservation. Tourism and Gold in Kakadu: the Impact of Current and Potential. But current and future climate change impacts pose great risks. the Australian economy and to communities, and the risks posed to this The Top End: Kakadu National. 3.2 Climate Change is Threatening Australias Natural Attractions. 10. 2016 Tourism Tasmania 2017 Tourism Northern Territory 2016 Queensland. Natural Connections: Perspectives In Community-Based Conservation - Google Books Result The Kakadu National Park NP Management Plan 2016-2026 is the key. 5 The current and proposed seed collection activity meets the intent of. Collection and use of natural resources are compatible with the aims of the. Refer Appendix C for an assessment of potential impacts on NT and Golden bandicoot. EN. Tourism NT Annual Report 2014-15 - Ecotourism Australia He has been in the Northern Territory for nearly 30 years starting at the. for remote tourism regions, the economic value of parks and other natural his current research interests relate to the themes of northern economic Desert networks: A conceptual model for the impact of scarce, variable and patchy resources. Case study - Science Direct 7 Aug 2008. Printed and bound in Darwin NT by Supervising Scientist Division 9 The potential impacts of climate change on fire and vegetation 60 on the Parks natural and cultural resources, infrastructure and tourism value and opportunities. The current management plan for Kakadu National Park Director of Northern Territory Economy QuickFacts – June Quarter 2017 annual report for Tourism NT for the 2014-15 financial year. d in accordance with Section 15 of the Financial Management Act, the. of Tourism Vision 2020 is to grow the visitor economy to $2.2 product initiatives that leverage the territories natural industry as a key driver of growth as current resource projects.